

You live your life and then you die. Okay, then what?

What will happen when you die? In your age group 30,000 Americans die each year. So have you ever thought about it? College student Steve Sawyer was told he had only months to live. How would you handle that? Steve struggled between denial and rage. Then Steve found hope. He discovered a God whom he called "the greatest love in the universe." "My life took on a whole new perspective. I knew that if I had reason to be hopeful and cheerful, anyone could experience that." If you'd like to know how you could handle whatever life throws at you, check out Steve's story, "Living with Hope" at www.EveryStudent.com.
